J. W. McDONALD, K. C. NEW LIBERAL LEADER

J. W. McDonald, K.C., of Macleod, newly elected provincial leader of the Liberal party, was born between the hamlet of Richmond Hill, Ontario, and Toronto. As a boy he attended Richmond Hill high school, and later attended business college. He secured his LL.B. from Toronto University, and B.C.L. from Trinity, being also a graduate of Osgoode Hall law school.

As a young man, Mr. McDonald practiced law for two years in Toronto, and came West direct to Macleod in 1907, shortly after his marriage to Margaret Somerville, daughter of Dr. John Somerville.

He has practiced law ever since in Macleod, and in 1919 was elected a K.C. Four years later he was elected to the position of mayor of Macleod by acclamation, and acclamation followed at every election since then when he was elected, the town was practically in a bankrupt condition, but due to the sweeping reforms and strict economies instituted by Mr. McDonald, the town was able once more to reach a sound financial condition.

So widely did his reputation spread, that in 1926 he was nominated for his constituency on a Liberal ticket, the seat being won by a small majority, however, by W. Shields, U.F.A. Mr. McDonald has a family of two, a son aged sixteen, and a daughter aged ten.

BLAIRMORE CLUB IS GIVEN PERMISSION FOR EUROPEAN TOUR

TORONTO, March 29.—The relations, or rather, the lack of relations, between the professional leagues and the C.A.H.A., which produces the players for the moneyed circuits, was discussed at the C.A.H.A. meeting here Friday and a special committee, composed of past president W. A. Fry, President J. W. Hamilton and Registrar-Treasurer W. A. Hewitt, was appointed to confer with the governors of the N.H.L. at their next two bodies.

A request from the Blaimore club, senior champions of Alberta, for permission to make a tour of Europe next winter, was granted, provided that the other interested bodies approve of the proposed tour.

Both Vancouver and Winnipeg applied for the Allan Cup final series and the C.A.H.A. annual meeting for 1931, while Toronto and Ottawa made requests for the O.H.A. Memorial Cup games next season. The selection of the venues of the two final series was left to the president, as in the past.

ALLAN TROPHY WON BY MONTREAL

For the first time in the history of the Allan Cup, emblematic of the Canadian amateur senior hockey championship, that trophy finds a resting place in Montreal during the 1930-31 season.

The Montreal Athletic Association brought about this precedent at the Arena Gardens on Saturday last, defeating Port Arthur two goals to one in the second game of the Dominion

SPECIAL HUNTING LICENSES SUSPENDED

A move in the right direction has been made by the government in suspending game licenses for use in the forest reserves of the Rocky Mountains, not only in the interests of fire prevention, but also in the interest of the game-preserved there.

For a number of years past, that portion of the public who are interested in the preservation of our big game, particularly deer, could never see the wisdom of permitting shooting during the early months of the season, just at a time when the game requires to avail of all that can be had from the feeding grounds.

The order as published reads: "His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, by and with the advice of the Executive Council, has been pleased to order that, owing to the advisability of safeguarding the forest reserves of the mountains of Alberta from the possibility of serious fires, the issuing of the special licenses referred to in Section 3 of Section 4 of the Game Act be and is hereby suspended for 1930.—Signed: John D. Hunt, clerk of the executive council."

WAGE CONFERENCE TO CONTINUE

Owing to the refusal of a number of coal operators to meet the wishes of the Mine Workers Union of Canada for the purpose of drawing up an agreement in a group of mines composing certain competitive areas in the Province of Alberta, the joint meeting of the policy committee and the executive board members of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada which spent two days deliberating the problem, has disbanded without accomplishing its objective, it was announced by Frank Wheatley, president of the Union, Sunday evening. The agreements were due to expire on Monday.

The mine workers' representatives have returned to their respective localities to meet the coal operators, it being understood that no agreement will be signed without the approval of the district office and the policy committee, and also the men affected. Mr. Wheatley pointed out that the present form of agreement with individual operators and their employees in such areas as the Crows' Nest Pass, where practically the total output was contracted for, had brought about a ruinous state of competition, disastrous alike to both coal operators and mine workers.

"In this particular district the mines had only worked regular for three months of the past year. During that period seven to eight hundred transient miners had been engaged in addition to the permanent crews, these were dismissed at the end of this three months rush, and the work for the balance of the year had been of such an intermittent character as to require the assistance of the municipal and provincial authorities in issuing relief to large numbers of people depending on the industry for work in this area," Mr. Wheatley said.

This system of production is entirely wrong, and the procedure of uniform agreements as suggested by the mine workers will tend to correct this condition.

"The adjustment of this, and other inequalities now existing will have to take place within the industry either through Government intervention and conciliation boards or strikes," he concluded.

Very favorable reports have been received from the Newfoundland sealing fleet. Up to a few days ago, the total catch was upwards of 200,000 pelts.

Jim replied, as he put a generous slice of shortcake on Grandma's plate. "You're right. The committee thought the fireworks would bring a crowd to the supper, and took up a collection for the cause. They got two dollars out of me, and I don't intend to miss the show. I tell you what, Grandma, you needn't miss it, either. I'll take you down in the car soon as it gets dark."

"My soul!" breathed Grandma. "I haven't been out in the evening since I don't know when. I don't want to miss the show, or the dinner, either, but, recklessly, I'm going to do it! You finish up that shortcake, Jim. It's no good left over and 'would be a shame to waste it. Charman made it after Emmy Bascomb's recipe, and it's worth feeling a little sick next day over. Pour me another cup of tea, son. I must be fortified if I'm going gallivanting all the evening. I haven't got any green hat, she added with a twinkle, "but I wear my bandolier. She's got Great-grandmother Davis's gray crepe shawl over my coat, so you won't feel ashamed of your company. That shawl came clear from China, and a summer boarder who stopped in one day for a skein of embroidery silk, offered me three hundred dollars for it when she saw it hanging over my chair."

Jim whistled expressively as he arose to clear the table.

"I'd like to see the shawl I'd refuse three hundred for!"

"So would I," agreed Grandma, "but Charman was mad at the woman for even offering it. She's got the Davis pride. You can set the dishes in the sink, Jim, and I'll go ready if you'll help me into the north room. There's that dog again with another bone! He's like to see where he's planning to put it, but there isn't time. It looks as if Gypsy was something of a miser; but at

Before Her Baby Came

"I have used several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find it helps me wonderfully, especially before childbirth. I have five lovely children. After my last baby came I had a miserable pain in my right side so I bought another bottle of the Compound and feel fine now. I work outside during the fruit season in addition to my housework."—Mrs. Charles Stirlingland, R.R. #4, St. Catharines, Ontario.

his third, was taken without leaving a friend in Wickford because of her sharp tongue, he had engraved for her, 'A good name is better than precious ointment.' I declare, Jim, I've been curious to know what he'd say for Sarah. They fought like cats and dogs."

"I'll allow that curiosity in two minutes," promised Jim, as he alighted and crossed the patch of grass on the Purdie lot. He was shaking his head soberly when he returned and said: "It looks to me, Grandma, as if the deacon had run out of Scripture verses and taken to the poets. He says of his last departed, 'A sweeter woman 'n'er drew breath.' Can you beat that?"

"No," Grandma admitted gravely. "I can't, and I won't try. Seems sort of like tempting Providence, uttering untruths like that, especially on a tombstone. While I've been sitting here, Jim, it came over me what he might say about Lucilla Moore, if she was taken first: 'I have commanded a widow woman there to sustain thee.' What you grinning about, sonny? It would be the truth, which is more than the others are."

"That's right," said Jim, as he resumed the place beside her. "Or if he wants a change from the Scriptures, as we might suspect, after what he says about Sarah, he could just put 'An old man's darling,' and be done with it."

Grandma endeavored not to laugh, but at last gave way to her natural impulse.

"I ought to be ashamed, thinking such thoughts and letting a boy like you think 'em too," she said regretfully, "but I never could get Ed Purdie. He was a mean boy, always putting snakes and loads down the girls' backs; and once he hung little Willie Kingsbury down the schoolhouse well by the heels, and the child was never the same again. My! isn't that bed of pansies handsome? It is time for the fireworks to begin!"

"It's time we were heading a place to park; but we mustn't get so near that the sparks will fall on that three-hundred-dollar shawl! You warn enough, Grandma? If I let you chuck the old, Charman will give me fits."

"She's liable to have fits herself if she sees me out this time o' night," chuckled the old lady. "Let's stop near the church, Jim, so I'll see her face when she comes out and find me. Here we are at the common, and Ezra Bascomb is bringing out a box of fireworks, most likely. That's right," Jim stopped at the head of the Common. "This is a splendid place to see. And there's Charman, and Doctor Carter along with her. Haven't he got the straight legs, Jim? Why? There's he sees us. They're coming this way!"

CHAPTER VIII.

If Jim Bennett had been purely altruistic when he took Grandma Davis to see the fireworks that night, he was amply repaid when the old lady safe home again, Charman followed him to his car and detained him with an impulsive hand on his shoulder.

"It was dear of you, Jim, to give Grandma such a good time," she began ardently. "I don't know how to thank you."

He faced her, and at something in his eyes she dropped the friendly hand that rested on his new, well-fitting coat.

"I don't need any thanks," he said, honestly enough. "Your grandmother's more fun than any one I know—present company."

And the shortcake was tasty.

"What shortcake? I didn't see you at the church."

He laughed.

A Fitting Tribute

Dr. Robertson was a Man Great In Ideals and Great In Capacity For Service

A book, rather than an article so necessarily limited as a newspaper editorial, would be more in keeping in the matter of tribute to his career with the life and works of Dr. James W. Robertson, whose death has just claimed at the age of 73 years. Here assuredly was a great man, a man great in ideals and great in capacity for service.

Dr. Robertson will be gratefully remembered by Canada and her people for a host of outstanding achievements, and which had their beginning only a few years after he arrived in the Dominion from his native Ayrshire, at the age of 18. As an interviewer has said of him, he was general consulting counsel for all Canada on matters of organization and social progress. His service to Canada began when he engaged with the operator of a Western Ontario dairy factory while still in his teens, at a wage of $13 a month. A few years later he was professor of dairying at the provincial agricultural college at Guelph. After that he was Dairy Commissioner of Canada, and attached to the Dominion Experimental Farm, at Ottawa. Then he served as principal of the Donald College, at St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, which, with Sir William Macdonald, he helped to found. Somewhere about this time, too, he commenced his extensive campaign in the interests of better seed for grain crops. Then he became chairman of the Canadian Conservation Commission and later chairman of the Royal Commission on Technical Education, a body whose activities paved the way for Canada's technical school system of today. Many other useful activities were also his in the course of his career.

He founded the Victorian Order of Nurses, had much to do with making the Canadian Red Cross the vigorous office organization it now is, and, for 11 years, and up to the time of his death, he was chief commissioner of the Boy Scout movement in Canada.

Dr. J. W. Robertson was a genius with that industry and passion that makes genius doubly effective, and with these qualities was a public-spiritedness that made him a servant and benefactor extraordinary of his adopted country and his time—Regina Leader.

Picture Theatre On Wheels

Tree-Planting Car Starts Annual Trip Over Prairies

The well known tree planting car, used by the Canadian Forestry Association, is about to start its twelfth year of prairie campaigning. The car is fitted up like a modern motion picture theatre, including some talkies and features and graphic motion pictures of prairie planting, colored slides of homes showing the transformation of bleak dwelling places to homes beautiful and attractive by trees, presents an appeal that is immediately taken advantage of by the prairie dwellers. In addition, other motion pictures show the birds that come with the trees and the wild life that is attracted with the protection that trees afford. Other features are graphic motion pictures of other parts of Canada, and always the comedy to enliven the presentation for young and old alike.

B.C. Herring Industry

The dry-salt herring industry, of British Columbia, with its name market, the Orient, continues to expand. In 1918 the year's catch was 172,610 cwt., while in 1925 it had grown to 1,083,174 cwt. Figures for the season ending February 6th, 1930, are not yet available.

Favors Greenland For Aerial Route

Would Make Atlantic Flying Safe Says Humanitarian Meteorologist

An aerial route between North America and Europe must go by way of Greenland to embody a proper degree of safety in the opinion of Dr. Constantine Dumbraue, Rumanian meteorologist, who has just completed two years in the north investigating aviation possibilities.

Dr. Dumbraue said he favored a plan for the establishment of landing fields and meteorological stations every 500 miles between Ottawa and Iceland. The first landing field and station he proposed to establish at Hudson Bay; the second at Hudson Straits; others on the west coast of Greenland, at Cape York, and possibly at the Faroe Islands. From the latter islands, he believes, "planes would have little difficulty making straight-line flights to the British Isles and thence to the European mainland."

Dr. Dumbraue expects to return to the Arctic again this year for further observations. He estimates 61,000,000 would be required to establish the route and officials of the National Defence Department let it be known they considered the project feasible.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS

There is no other medicine of as great a help to young mothers as Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulates the bowels; sweetens the stomach; corrects constipation and indigestion; break up colds and milder fevers and make the cutting of teeth painless.

Mothers who keep a box of the Tablets in the house always feel safe from the sudden attacks of illness that seize their little ones. If Baby's Own Tablets are given on the first sign of illness the baby will soon be right again. Concerning the Tablets, Mrs. H. G. PORTRAIT FOR LEGISLATIVE BUILDING

The women of the province are full of enthusiasm over their project of having the portrait of Mrs. McKinney painted and presented to the Legislative Building at Edmonton, and hope to have this accomplished before the end of the year. Mrs. McKinney has been chosen for this honor on account of the fact that she was the first woman to be elected to any Legislative Assembly in the British Empire, when in 1917 she was chosen to represent the constituency of Claresholm.

The arrangements are in charge of a committee of 23 women covering the province, and they are asking every woman in Alberta to subscribe to the fund. The honor of sending the first contribution belongs to the late Mrs. Barbara Cassels, formerly of Calgary, but then living in Edmonton, who sent a donation of five dollars and expressed her delight at knowing that the plan was under way.

Mr. J. W. L. Forster, of Toronto, has been chosen as the artist, and he will no doubt produce a portrait which will be a fitting and lasting tribute to this well-beloved woman.

Mrs. McKinney has lived in Alberta for over twenty years and in addition to her political activities, she has been a leader in social reform and church work. She can preach a sermon or play the organ; lead the Bible class or conduct a debate; write the words for a pageant, make the costumes, and direct it; run her house; entertain her friends; edit a column in a newspaper; make a party dress for some little girl whose mother is in the hospital or otherwise unable to do it; give a paper on Swinburne at the Literary Club, and do all these things with the utmost facility and good humor. Once a month the "Y" girls have a dinner at her house, and it is a happy event to which the girls look forward for Mrs. McKinney is a perfect hostess with a good gift of making every one contribute to the conversation.

Mrs. McKinney is held in high esteem by the women of the province for many reasons; for her sense of fairness, for her fearless advocacy of the high way of life, for her wise and kindly counsel, for her ready sympathy, for her ability to carry burdens without ever once feeling sorry for herself, but particularly she is loved because of her delightful and cheery sense of humor which relieves the strain of her high pressure life. When asked one time during her term of office in the legislature if she did not find it hard to make so many speeches, she replied with a smile that it was not really so hard for she had only one at a time, and as she told the truth each time, she did not need to remember what she had said before.

Mrs. McKinney is one of the five women of Alberta who pressed the matter of women's eligibility to the senate as far as the Privy Council, and who were so gracefully thanked by the first woman senator, in her first speech in the Red Chamber the other day.

In presenting Mrs. McKinney's picture to the Legislative Assembly, the women feel they are honoring one who has made and is making a notable contribution to the welfare of our people, commemorating the fact that our own Alberta led all the British Empire in accepting the principle of equality between the sexes, and in addition they cherish the hope that succeeding generations may see in the strong, kind face of Louise C. McKinney something of the idealism, courage and high adventure of that intrepid trail breaker, the Pioneer Woman of the West.

Contributions, big or little, will be appreciated and acknowledged by the treasurer, Mrs. Wilbur Horner, 815-19th Avenue West, Calgary.

Chairman of the Committee
Margaret I. Sibbald,
Secretary.

WHY NOT TELL THE PEOPLE

The Alberta legislature make many laws and introduce amendments to other laws, that make it rather difficult for the average man to keep in touch with the multitude of restrictions placed upon the statute books. Not long ago auto drivers' licenses were added to the list, and there are probably many people who are not aware of such a law. Threshers' licenses must be secured, shooting licenses must be paid for, and the farmer cannot even sell eggs direct to the consumer without infringing an Alberta law. It looks as if we are tremendously burdened with laws and restrictions that make it difficult to live a law abiding life. However, with these laws included in our statute books, why not the government appraise the people of their laws by publishing a synopsis of same in the country newspapers.

As a consequence of the lack of publicity many law abiding citizens are innocently violating the laws of the land. The same way of advising the public of these new pieces of legislation is through the press of the province—Innisfail Province.

Material for the new Red Trail map being published by the boards of trade of Southern Alberta, is now in the hands of the printer and distribution is expected to take place in about two weeks' time. Approximately 20,000 copies will be printed and these will be mailed to chambers of commerce, automobile associations and boards of trade throughout Canada and the United States.

The printing of this map has been made possible through the co-operation of trade boards in the south country and points of interest, mileage, statistics and outlines of the towns and cities will be carried on the reverse side of the map, along with views of the beauty spots.

The 1930 edition of the Red Trail map will carry all the latest gravel road extensions and will be a handy folder for the motorist to carry on trips throughout this territory.

The boards of trade responsible for the work are Fernie, Blairmore, Coleman, Pincher Creek, Waterton Lakes Park, Cardston, Macleod, Lethbridge, Taber and Coult. The last two towns are new additions to the map, not being featured on the map issued last year.

THE WORTH OF A WIFE

A Scotch friend of ours, residing less than ten miles from Blairmore, takes occasion to forward the following Scotch act, with the curt query: "Is that the reason our editor is not married?—Wives are too cheap, etc."

Sandy Gordon was getting married, and as the wedding day drew near, he began to find that it was costing him more than he bargained for, so he asked a cunny what the minister charged for officiating at the ceremony. His friend replied: "Weel, Sandy, after I got married I asked the minister, 'How much am I due ye for that?' 'Oh, he replied, 'Just what ye think she is worth, so I handed him a shillin'. 'You're far too generous,' said he, and handed me back a saxe-pence. 'An' d'ye ken, he was richt!'"

Down in Mexico is what is known as the "El Universal" Press Syndicate. Were it not for the highly christianized printers' devil of nowadays, it would be Universal "El" with us here, too.

ABOLITION OF SPEED LIMIT APPROVED BY HOUSE OF LORDS

The English House of Lords has approved and sent to the House of Commons a bill abolishing the speed for automobiles and motorcycles. The bill, however, imposes drastic penalties for reckless driving, limits buses and trucks to thirty miles an hour and imposes compulsory third-party insurance on all motor vehicles.

HAS SEEN MOTOR CAR DISPLACE OX CART

No one knows the growth and development of Western Canada better than Richard McKenzie who came to Manitoba in 1880, and in the early nineties was running a carriage shop at Manitou, Manitoba.

Mr. McKenzie became a resident of Winnipeg in 1899, at which time he opened the Winnipeg Branch of the McLaughlin Carriage Co.

According to Mr. McKenzie, the first McLaughlin car bought in Winnipeg became the property of J. W. Ackland in 1909. It is now being preserved by the Winnipeg branch of the McLaughlin division of General Motors of Canada as a "museum" piece. Charles Jackson, pioneer settler in Calgary, was Canada's first automobile owner, bringing a steam engine into Canada in 1898. It was bought for the magnificent sum of $1,650.00 f.o.b. factory.

Victor McLaglen, happy-go-lucky adventurer in "The Black Watch" which is now at Cole's theatre, Bellevue, for the week end has had a career quite as romantic as the one he portrays in this all-talking John Ford production. McLaglen, a South African by birth, has gone adventuring in all corners of the globe. He has participated in five wars, has had experience as a professional fighter, as a miner in the Australian gold rush and just about every sort of glamorous occupation.

No picture in the brief history of the talkies has approached "The Black Watch" for the vivid union of the art of photography with that of sound recording. The departure of a regiment of Scottish troops for the Front is poignantly done.

Jim, who had colored at the question, suddenly laughed and answered: "It doesn't wear well. You get tired of it after a while."

Grandma chuckled. "You go to take it to the strawberry festival this evening?"

Suddenly suspecting that he was being pumped, Jim replied with caution: "Maybe I will. I hadn't thought of it till now; but it would be a pity to leave the poor thing to go alone."

"She'd like your calling her a poor thing," said Grandma.

"I was talking about the hat," grinned Jim. "Honestly, Grandma, that hat has made more commotion in Wickfield than Lindbergh's made when he landed in Paris. I'm sick of the sight of it!"

"Well," commented the old lady, "you've come to your senses quicker than I expected. Does your mother know it?"

Jim's face colored strangely. "Mother's—erazy about her," he admitted in a burst of confidence. "She says she makes the Wickfield girls look provincial. I guess Clara told her they looked that way. She'd never have thought of it herself. Now that's about all I hear—and everybody in it. Look here, Grandma, don't you tell any one I said that. It's only because Mother's got the idea that I'm a sort of Prince of Wales, that she talks that way. She says the best is none too good for me," he added, flushing hotly.

"And I'm not sure she isn't right, Jim," said Grandma, reaching out a wrinkled hand to touch his own. "You're a good son, boy; but your mother can't live your life for you, just the same. You tell her that, next time she says that home folks aren't good enough for any one. What do you think of the new doctor?"

"I don't think anything at all," Jim replied with irritation, and arose.

"Oh!" said Grandma, enlightened. "Well, he's all right, Jim, you can take my word for it. He keeps his room neat as any woman; and he doesn't eat out of house and home if he is a man."

"I don't see in thunder you took him in, though. Charman's got enough to do without getting meals for a perfect stranger."

His voice was gruff, and as he looked from the window his shoulders held the same rigid position that Charman had noticed earlier, and which told Grandma, as it told the girl, that he was inwardly disturbed.

"Look here," said the old lady quietly, "there's no use your getting all riled up. We took him in to help the doctor—Doctor, I mean. There wasn't another place where the young man could board."

"What's the matter with Emmy Bascom's? Emmy's glad enough to get a boarder when she can find one."

"Too far from town," said Grandma. "And besides, I guess maybe the doctor thought the extra money would come in handy for us. This is a big house to keep repaired; though don't you go repeating that at home or anywhere else," she added with a sudden touch of pride. "We Davises don't air our troubles."

"If the house is a trouble, why not sell it?" Jim suggested, seating himself again. "I bet you could get a big price from some city folks who want a summer home."

"Jimmy," said Grandma, her old eyes watching him narrowly, "when you say things like that I can understand—pretty near—why Charman wasn't more upset when you took up with that Clara Darling. This house was built by my husband's grandfather. Charman would no more sell it than she'd cut off her hair, like that Darling girl did the day she went to Paris and she lifted her brush."

"Well," sighed Jim, rising again, "I guess I'll be going. Seems to me I say the wrong thing to every one this morning. I guess I'll go home and tell you, Grandma, and a big house like this for just the two of you seems sort of foolish."

"I suppose it does, sonny, to those who don't understand," responded Grandma. "Thank you for stopping in, Jimmy. There hasn't been a better time this morning; and except for those fighting boys the street's been silent as a tomb. If you go past the Merry's you'll tell Mrs. Merry that her knitting needles came last night? That's a good boy. He's been watching for the R.F.D. man. He's terribly late it seems to me."

"If I meet him," grinned Jim, "I'll tell him to get a move on, that there's a little street who's watching for a love letter."

"All I'm watching for," corrected Grandma, "is Emmy Bascom's recipe for shortcake. It's the best in town; and Charman's promised to make one for the festival."

"That boy is just a mite on edge," she mused, as she watched Jim stride down the street. "It's time his mother learned to mind her own affairs, and let Jim mind his. It's his plan he's tired of that silly girl; but maybe the best way to make him treader is for Sarah Bennett to keep on throwing her in his face. Someways I wish Charman would take him. He'd be a good provider, and a good provider is sort of comfortable to have around; though I wouldn't swap Father's poems for all the providing in Kingdom Come. Just the same, Jimmy Bennett is as fine a boy as ever breathed, and he'd do most anything. Charman was a mite to ask. He's jealous of the new doctor, but a little jealousy won't hurt him any in the long run. Maybe he'll appreciate her all the more for it. Provincial! If that isn't Sarah Bennett all over! Well, if ever she says anything like that to me I'll give her a piece of my mind. It's high time some one did!"

Grandma leaned back in her chair and closed her eyes. She started, and shook herself impatiently.

"Here I am taking 'cat naps' like an old woman," she commented, straightening up and peering from the window. "I wonder if I missed anything? There's Parns. Merry across the street. He's carrying Susy Oldham's card table. Seems as if come a sociable or a church fair, Mr. Merry does all the lifting. I wish he'd look up and wave. There he sees me," as the minister laid down the table and waved his hat. "He's a good man, the parson, if there are some who are always criticizing. A minister just can't please everybody; or his wife can't either. Sarah Bennett complained because Mrs. Merry wasn't stylisher at the convention at Portland—and next spring, when Mrs. Merry had the first row coal in years, Sarah said it was plain to see where the parson the parish gave the minister on Christmas went! There's Jim again. He's overtaken Mr. Merry and is carrying the table. I'm glad of that. The parson's not so hasty as he was once. . . . I wonder . . . where that . . . R.F.D. . . . man . . . is . . ."

Grandma nodded. She was still nodding when the mail carrier drew up before the door.

CHAPTER VI

It was late afternoon and Charman's shortcake, a triumph of culinary art, was ready to be carried to the church. Though it was time to dress, the girl threw herself down on the fourpotted bedstead in her big bedroom, and closed her eyes. Like all people who enjoy life intensely, Charman had her moments of depression. Sometimes they came unexpectedly, as his this time.

"Now, what do you think of that?" said Old Salt, somewhat scornfully. "What next will they give to help the sailors? When I think of those days of iron men and wooden ships . . ."

And, this is the story of Iron Mike, as the Old Salt related it: "Iron Mike is officially known as gyrohelmsman. Since sail passed from the seven seas, superseded by steam, and steam means money, more than ever before, the world over have been seeking new labor saving devices. So, recently, Iron Mike made his appearance."

"Now, what do you think of that?" said Old Salt, somewhat scornfully. "What next will they give to help the sailors? When I think of those days of iron men and wooden ships . . ."

"There are moments when I think Jim's right," she mused. "It is silly for Grandma and me to try to keep up a place that was intended for a big family. I'd almost rather sell the house than watch it go to rack and ruin. That thunderer showed up another leak in the back wall, and I've only just paid for having the last one fixed. Sometimes I wish—"

The town clock striking the hour interrupted these doleful reflections, and the girl arose, going to the bureau and slowly taking out her hairpins. Her soft, fair hair fell below her waist, but she regarded it critically as she lifted her brush.

"I wonder how I'd look with it bobbed," she pondered, the thought bringing a smile of amusement to her lips. "Grandma would have a fit. But there are days when I'm tempted to see what it would do to me. Provincial! Would Mrs. Bennett change her verdict if I appeared with short locks? Poor Grandma! That riled her mightily. Jim ought to have known better than to tell her; but he was pretty well stirred up himself, poor laddie!—and enjoyed using Grandma as a safety valve. Well, I must hurry. I promised Mrs. Merry I'd set her mind descended to the shop, she found table."

Twenty minutes later when Charman Carter entertaining Grandma.

"Seems to me you've been a awful long time getting dressed," commented the old lady. "Come nearer so I can see you. I always did like that orange, dearie. The color's lovely; and it's got an air to it. Don't you think so, Doctor?"

"All the air in the world," he replied gallantly. "She looks airy enough to blow away. I hope she won't escape me before we reach the church. I should be scared to death to go in without her."

Explorers To Follow Route Of Columbus a First Voyage

Two modern explorers set sail from Miami, Florida, Sunday 23, who will follow the route taken by Christopher Columbus on his first voyage to the Western Hemisphere, for the purpose of discovering where the navigator spent the time between the day he landed at San Salvador and the day he again set sail for Spain three months and five days later.

Glenn Stewart, of Easton, Md., for 15 years in the United States diplomatic service, and A. Noel Tripp, who has been cruising the high seas for years and writing stories about his travels, are the two men engaged in the adventure. They sailed aboard a 84-foot yacht, the "Centaur," designed especially for this cruise. "This voyage may be expected to bring about a revision of school textbooks dealing with the discoveries of Columbus," said Mr. Stewart. "Accounts available are very vague concerning his movements on his first trip across the Atlantic. We know that he landed at Watling's Island and starting from this known fact we are going to work out the unknown. Next winter we intend another voyage which will reveal his movements on his fourth trip."

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF A FOND MOTHER

Her child is a never-ending source of joy and a never-ending responsibility to the fond mother. It is not infrequently happens that minor ailments of the child distress and puzzle her; she does not know just what to do, yet feels them not serious enough to call a doctor. At just such times as these it is that Baby's Own Tablets are found to be mother's greatest help and friend.

Most childhood ailments arise from a derangement of the stomach or bowels. Baby's Own Tablets will immediately banish them by cleansing the bowels and sweetening the stomach. Thus they relieve colic, correct the digestion, banish constipation and make teething pains disappear.

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed as opiate and narcotics and need to be free from injurious drugs may be given to the newborn babe with perfect safety and beneficial results. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Started In Humble Way
Canada's Late High Commissioner Sold Tea From House To House

Mr. Larkin, when a young man, sold tea from house to house. But few people knew him at that time, not many thought it was worth while trying to remember his name, and he had to introduce himself afresh in nearly every house as he made his rounds. He became the head of a great Canadian tea company and had tea plantations in Ceylon, and packed his tea in metal packages, and his name became a household word throughout Canada. He died suddenly in London, England, where he had lived as Canada's representative. Not many people in Canada were unable to recall his name when the news of the death of Canada's High Commissioner came by cable. He was said to be something of a politician, too, not a speaker but a man to be trusted with the bag, and one who could fill it too, when the need was pressing.

Effect Of Tree Planting
Shelter Belts On Prairies Make Vegetable Gardens Possible

The free distribution of forest trees to prairie farmers by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, has had one marked effect in greatly increasing the number of "vegetable gardens and orchards in the Prairie Provinces. Until recent years comparatively few farmers grew their own vegetables or small fruits. Inspections of the last few years have shown that the great majority of owners of shelter-belts now have vegetable gardens, many are growing small fruits, and an appreciable number are planting fruit trees.

Little Helps For This Week

"Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry; for anger resteth in the bosom of fools."—Ecclesiastes vii, 9.

As through an ill-hatched rat. The pelting rains descend, So an unwhining mind.

The stormy wind; As well-hatched roofs defy the rats, So passions crash and dash against The thoughtful mind in vain.

—The Dhammapadam.

Like those who burn their houses and themselves within them, anger makes all things within full of confusion, smoke, and noise; so that the soul can neither see nor hear anything that might relieve it. Wherefore, sooner will an empty ship in a storm at sea admit of a governor from without, than a man, tossed with anger and rage, listen to the advice of another, unless he have his own reason first prepared to entertain it.

Started In Humble Way
Canada's Late High Commissioner Sold Tea From House To House

Mr. Larkin, when a young man, sold tea from house to house. But few people knew him at that time, not many thought it was worth while trying to remember his name, and he had to introduce himself afresh in nearly every house as he made his rounds. He became the head of a great Canadian tea company and had tea plantations in Ceylon, and packed his tea in metal packages, and his name became a household word throughout Canada. He died suddenly in London, England, where he had lived as Canada's representative. Not many people in Canada were unable to recall his name when the news of the death of Canada's High Commissioner came by cable. He was said to be something of a politician, too, not a speaker but a man to be trusted with the bag, and one who could fill it too, when the need was pressing.

Effect Of Tree Planting
Shelter Belts On Prairies Make Vegetable Gardens Possible

The free distribution of forest trees to prairie farmers by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, has had one marked effect in greatly increasing the number of "vegetable gardens and orchards in the Prairie Provinces. Until recent years comparatively few farmers grew their own vegetables or small fruits. Inspections of the last few years have shown that the great majority of owners of shelter-belts now have vegetable gardens, many are growing small fruits, and an appreciable number are planting fruit trees.

Needless Pain!

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. Lots of suffering is, indeed, quite needless. Headaches, for example. They come without warning, but one can always be prepared. Aspirin tablets bring prompt relief. Keep a bottle of them at the office. Carry the small tin in your pocket. Then you won't be a martyr to needless pain.

And do not think that Aspirin is only good for headaches, sore throats, and colds. Read the proven directions for relieving neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatic and other aches and pains. Remembering, of course, that Aspirin tablets bring prompt relief. Keep a bottle of them at the office. Carry the small tin in your pocket. Then you won't be a martyr to needless pain.

Purchase genuine Aspirin. Protect yourself by looking for that name. Always the same. Always safe. Never hurts the heart.

SAFE AND SANE DRIVING

Spring is here, and the motorist is tuning up his car for a great season on the highways. There are today 100,000 motor cars and trucks in operation in Alberta. Besides, we expect thousands upon thousands of tourists to visit the Rockies of Alberta during the summer. All this means density of traffic, and that, in turn, means increasing opportunities for accidents.

The Alberta Motor Association is doing what it can to foster better highways, but at the same time it is trying to reduce accidents on the highways and in our streets to a minimum. To that end the association has issued "A Safe Driver's Creed," which is commended to all drivers of cars and trucks:

I WILL drive my car as though "half the world was deaf, dumb or blind" and their safety in my keeping.

I WILL keep my car under control at all times so as to be able to meet any emergency that may arise.

I WILL keep utmost in mind the rights and privileges of other drivers and pedestrians and observe the Golden Rule.

I WILL cross crossings cautiously and slow down at intersections, schools and other places where care and caution must be used.

I WILL signal when about to stop, or make a turn out of the traffic line and watch for signals of car ahead.

I WILL keep to the right of the centre of the roadway, and comply with all traffic signs, traffic lights and roadway markings.

I WILL adapt my driving to weather and road conditions, and be on guard against rain, snow, ice, soft spots, ruts, obstructions and traffic jams.

I WILL know the City and Provincial laws and obey all traffic and parking regulations.

I WILL make sure the road behind

AUTOMOBILES BRING BUSINESS TO RAILWAYS

Canadian railroads have gained more in automobile business than they lost through the competition of pleasure cars and trucks, according to E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railways. "Automobiles, buses and trucks are serious competitors of steam and electric railways," Mr. Beatty admitted, "but no railway official, if he is wise and sensible to the evolution in transportation which is proceeding from year to year, should say that the railways are opposed to such development."

RESEARCH WORK FOR THE BENEFIT OF AGRICULTURE

Regina.—Recommendation will be made by the Agricultural Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, following a session here, that research work in Canada be extended in all the provinces of Canada, and that further methods be adopted by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to bring the results of such research to the knowledge of individual farmers as far as can be done.

A second resolution was passed that "the conference suggests to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce that a national bureau of agriculture be established in the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which bureau would be completely directed by one or more recognized experts, who would be to survey the whole question of agricultural production, marketing, research, education, grading, standardization and so forth; and make available to the agriculturists and to business, financiers and recommendations which because of their authoritative, impartial and thorough nature will commend themselves as sound national procedure and inspire greater confidence on the part of the Dominion Government than any committee be set up to study agricultural problems in Canada, members of the body to be men familiar with the economics of agriculture."

In this connection the Regina conference will recommend to the Agricultural Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce that this committee recommend in turn to the Dominion Government that a committee be set up to study agricultural problems in Canada, members of the body to be men familiar with the economics of agriculture.

"What's Ahead for Agriculture in Canada" was the question upon which the National Agricultural Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce held its discussion at the opening session of a meeting at the Saskatchewan Hotel. Col. Robert McEwen, London, Ont., presided.

Representatives attending the meeting were welcomed by Col. J. H. Woods, Calgary, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce; and by George H. Barr, K.C., Regina, Saskatchewan vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Hon. J. D. MacGregor, lieutenant-governor of Manitoba, told the meeting that, in his opinion, the day of $1.75 wheat had passed, and emphasized his opinion that the farmers of the prairies must enter diversified farming. The climate and the various soils of the prairie were a considerable factor in the growing of forage crops and thus the possibilities for live stock were great.

"Pay your taxes with your stock and have the return from your grain crop as velvet," he said.

Hon. Mr. MacGregor was winner of the grand championship at the Chicago International Exhibition for the years 1912 and 1913, and is known across the continent as one of the leading stock men of Canada and the United States.

George H. Barr, K.C., spoke of the opportunity for service provided through the medium of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Amendment Is Lost

House Of Commons Defeat Amendment To Bill Providing For Divorce Courts

Ottawa, Ont.—The House of Commons defeated the amendment of Thomas McMillan, Liberal member for South Huron, to the Woodworth Bill providing for divorce courts in Ontario, by twenty votes. The vote stood: for 88, against 108.

The amendment expressed regret at the spread of divorce in Canada, and advised a campaign to foster the idea of the sanctity of the home in the Dominion.

After the vote on the amendment, there were calls for a vote on the main motion. Mr. Speaker Lemieux ruled that as the private members' hour had expired, it would not be possible to take this vote if any one objected. George Spotton, Conservative, North Huron, objected, so the vote was put over until another sitting.

Millions For Good Roads

Saskatchewan Government Hopes Ambitious Program For This Season

Regina, Sask.—Nearly seven millions will be spent on Saskatchewan roads this season. It was announced in the legislature by Hon. A. C. Stewart, K.C., Minister of Highways, during the course of the debate on the budget.

The total of $6,852,386 is to be divided as follows: On trunk highways, $2,063,585; gravel surfacing, $3,373,801; sundry grading, $398,000; colonization roads, $120,000. The latter refers to roads in newer districts of the province, part of the scheme of the new Anderson government.

Mr. Stewart assured the members that there was no intention on the part of the government to create a highway commission or of abandoning the present department of highways. Roads of the province, their construction and maintenance, would remain as they had always done, under the direct control of the minister.

British Coal For Canada

Tonnage Chartered For Trade Says British Minister Of Employment

London, Eng.—Very considerable orders for British anthracite and soft coal have been obtained in Canada, said Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, lord privy seal and minister of employment, in the House of Commons. The minister was questioned by Sir Kingsley Wood, Conservative member for West Woolwich, who asked if anything had been done to secure westbound cargoes for the grain boats coming from the Dominion. Sir Kingsley suggested coal as the most natural article of cargo exchange.

"Yes sir," replied Mr. Thomas quickly, "my information is that very considerable orders for British anthracite and soft coal have been obtained in the Dominion and I am able to announce that a substantial volume of tonnage has been chartered for this trade to commence with the opening of the St. Lawrence to navigation."

Tenth Anniversary Of Suffrage Celebrated

Luncheon Party In Forty-Two States Joiner By Radio

Washington, D.C.—The National League of Women Suffragists celebrated ten years of women's suffrage with a chain of luncheon parties stretching across the United States.

The birthday parties were arranged in 42 states. The luncheon tables were joined by a nation-wide radio hook-up, with Carrie Chapman Catt, silver-haired, 70 years old, the grand old lady of women's suffrage, addressing the thousands of celebrants.

The birthday celebration was the first of a series planned for the next few months in recognition of the first decade of women's voice government. A convention will be held in Louisville, April 18.

Will Not Resign

Hon. Dr. Godfrey Will Stand Pat Over Famous Postscript Episode

Toronto.—Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health for Ontario, has reiterated his stand that he will not resign because of the public rebuke administered to him in the legislature by Premier G. H. Ferguson, over the now famous "postscript episode." He also denied a rumor that he will take a long vacation.

Both are a pile of dreams," he declared. It was for his action in adding a postscript to a letter written to a constituent of his in which an application for a mother's allowance, made by a woman residing in Long Branch, was refused.

The postscript reads as follows: "See her if you can and get her support the 30th (election day), and we will be able to take more time with the case."

British Government To Spend $125,000 For High Commissioner's Residence In Canada

London, Eng.—The governmental estimates for the coming year tabled in the House of Commons, provide the sum of $125,000 for the purchase and adaptation of the British high commissioner's residence in Ottawa, "Earncliffe."

Buildings in use by the diplomatic service will prove rather costly this year. The new Washington embassy will account for the expenditure of $170,000. The Tuhlo embassy, destroyed by fire, will be rebuilt at a cost of $350,000. The embassy at Moscow will call for $100,000.

Airmen Reach Railway

Vance and Bladale Complete Long Trek Southward

Winnipeg, Man.—Jim Vance and Brian Bladale, Northern airmen who wintered at Baker Lake, off the west coast of Hudson Bay, have completed a 100-mile trek southward by dog-team. They reached the fringe of civilization March 26, when they entered Gillam, which is Mile 327 on the Hudson Bay Railway, and the farthest north point to which the "Muskeg Limited" is operating along the line to Churchill.

SHORT LINE TO THE PAS WILL BE OPENED SOON

Winnipeg, Man.—Construction work on the Sturgis-Hudson Bay Junction branch line of the Canadian National will be finished about May 18, and the line will be turned over to the operating department on that date. An announcement to this effect was made by A. E. Warrenton, western vice-president of the Canadian National.

A very considerable saving in time and distance between Southern Saskatchewan and the Hudson Bay Railway will result with the completion of this line and the opening of it for regular freight and passenger service. Between Regina, Moose Jaw and other southern points in Saskatchewan there will be a lessening of 94½ miles over the existing route from those centres to the Pas.

Intermediate points such as Melville and Yorkton will also be brought considerably nearer to the Pas and the Hudson Bay Railway. Until the Sturgis-Hudson Bay Junction line goes into operation the route from Regina to Hudson Bay Junction is via Swan River, a distance of 429½ miles. The distance by way of the new route which lies through Melville, Yorkton and Canora will be 335 miles.

Passenger and freight train services are now under consideration by the departments concerned and it is not expected that an announcement on train service will be made for a few weeks.

The Sturgis-Hudson Bay Junction line was one of those included in the three-year branch line program which was passed by parliament in 1927. Although it is practically the last item on that program, it is completed the date upon which it is to be turned over for operation is more than six months ahead of that set by the bill.

West Grows Airminded

Western air mail service between Winnipeg and Calgary—over 800 miles in distance—has been inaugurated recently and the Canadian Pacific Express Company has renewed its contract made in 1925 to carry express packages in addition to the regular mail. This allows of a saving of more than 24 hours between the two cities. The package which pilot W. J. Buchanan is shown delivering to a Canadian Pacific Expressman, was mailed eight hours previously at Calgary and had therefore traveled at the rate of more than 100 miles an hour to reach Winnipeg, its destination.

NEW APPOINTMENT

Mr. Hebert has been connected with the railway almost since its inception in the passenger department. His associations with French-Canadians all over Canada are at once close and wide.

Overseas Wireless Phone

Direct Wireless Telephone Service Between Canada and Britain Is Contemplated

Ottawa, Ont.—Confirmation of the statement of Hon. H. B. Lees-Smith, British postmaster-general, respecting the contemplated establishment of a direct wireless telephone service between Canada and Great Britain was obtained from officials of the Department of Marine. So far, however, the matter has not gone beyond the negotiation stage.

When the system is established it will operate through the Marconi beam wireless at Drummondville, Que., from where the transmission will be direct to Rugby, England. This circuit has been operating experimentally for the last year. It was employed recently in the broadcast of the King's speech at the opening of the naval disarmament conference. Officials were unable to say when the system will be inaugurated commercially.

Opened Exhibition By Radio

Marconi Spoke From Genoa, Italy, To Sydney, Australia

Genoa, Italy.—Short radio waves cutting across the Atlantic, America and the Pacific carried the voice of Marconi Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless, from his yacht Electric here, to Sydney, Australia, to open the electrical exposition there.

Marconi spoke across 11,000 miles to Director J. Fisk, of the electrical association, reading a message which outlined what he intended doing later in the day—transmitting a small unit of power to Sydney in order to close a circuit there and light the electric lamps of the exposition.

Watson called himself the "Lone Wolf" and robbed some half dozen managers of chain stores and other premises during his career here.

Calgary Has Glider Club

Plans are to purchase a training glider immediately and commence flying early in the coming season.

DEVELOP PUBLIC OPINION ALONG PEACEFUL LINES

Ottawa, Ont.—Contribution of money to Canadian universities for establishment of chairs in international relations is a field in which it might be better for the Dominion Government not to intervene, believes Dr. O. D. Skelton, under-secretary of state for foreign affairs. Dr. Skelton spoke before the House of Commons committee on industrial and international relations.

His comments referred to a resolution of Miss Agnes McPhail (Prog. South East Gray), asking that for every $100 disbursed by the Canadian Government for war, $1 should be spent for promotion of peace. The resolution favors setting up a chair for international relations and institution of international scholarships in each Canadian university.

Cost of establishing such chairs was set at $2,000,000 by Dr. Skelton in answer to a question by A. W. Neill (Ind., Comox-Alberni).

Dr. Skelton thought that in some cases establishment of chairs of international relations would be desirable, but in most instances he believed it more useful to develop general knowledge of social science.

The question of what the Dominion Government should do in the way of establishing additional scholarships found Dr. Skelton of the opinion that much having already been done by individual and organized effort, the way was clearly indicated that this system should be continued.

As far as he could see, there were three specific points developed by the parliamentary debate. One was to ascertain how public opinion could be developed to deal with the big task thrown upon the people of Canada and what part the Dominion Government should play in shaping that public opinion. A second was how to train personnel in the conduct of international relations and what part the government should take in the training of that personnel.

The third envisaged the agencies the government should develop for carrying on the immediate and distant tasks of conducting the relations of foreign and inter-imperial governments.

Dr. Skelton felt that the elementary and secondary schools could do much to humanize the training of youth in international matters.

Another element was the press. A survey of the press of Canada, said Dr. Skelton, was not disheartening. It would compare very favorably with that of most other countries, and the information supplied by the Canadian press was not only adequate but probably less biased and more objective than that published in the press of a great many other countries. The fact that in the past two years there had been established press bureaus in London, Paris and Washington indicated how much the press was contributing to the general knowledge of international matters.

Other factors in developing public opinion were the movies and radio. These were anything "too international." International travel also furnished many opportunities for broadening the outlook of Canadian people.

Many organizations were doing valuable work. Such were the Association of Canadian Clubs, the Institute of International Relations, the Canadian Problems Society and the League of Nations Society.

Besides all these factors the Dominion Government and parliament did much through the utterance of its members. He did not approve of the Dominion Government entering into organized propaganda with a view to moulding public opinion.

One of the ways in which the government could help would be through aid to the league of nations society. The government might supply material to schools and colleges on international relations, but on the whole the task of developing public opinion was one for voluntary organized effort.

TRADE TREATY WITH AUSTRALIA TO BE RETAINED

Ottawa.—Both the sub-amendment, calling for revision of the Australian treaty, and the amendment declaring that it should be abrogated, met with defeat in the House of Commons. The sub-amendment, which was moved by Hon. H. H. Stevens (Cons., Vancouver Centre), was defeated by a vote of 163 to 51. The amendment, which came from Robert Gardiner, U.F.A. member for Acadia, was even less successful. It was lost by 141 to 16.

Party lines were followed closely in the division on the sub-amendment. All the Conservatives present, and H. B. Adhead, Labor member for East Calgary, favored the Conservative proposal. Lined up against it were all the Liberals, Liberal-Progressives, Independent members, Progressives and members of the U.F.A.

Support of the U.F.A. amendment calling for abrogation of the treaty came from members of the U.F.A. party, Progressives, and one Liberal, A. Boucher, the Conservatives, Liberal-Progressives and Independent members.

Following defeat of the sub-amendment and amendment, the government motion to go into supply was declared carried. This motion has been before the House for some days but discussion of the Australian treaty has prevented its passage.

British Companies Interested

May Invest In Oil Fields and Later Build Steel Mill

Calgary, Alberta.—Laying down of a million dollar stock, and oil-well drilling and operating equipment in Calgary during the coming summer and later establishment of a steel mill in this city or at Vancouver if the market proves sufficiently attractive are being recommended to the large British financial and manufacturing interests represented by R. A. Raymond. Mr. Raymond has spent some time looking over the country, provided by the Turner Valley field.

While declining to give out the names of the British companies, which are interested, he stated that they are in a position to handle Canadian business in practically unlimited volume. And it was possible that a merger of a number of well-known firms engaged in the iron and steel manufacturing industry may be formed with a subsidiary Canadian company to handle the business in the Dominion.

Wheat For Starving Chinese

Western Farmers Asked To Donate a Bushel Of Grain For This Purpose

Winnipeg, Man.—Plains from far off China, where millions have died of starvation and millions more face a like fate during the coming year, have reached the little settlement of Damsen, Sask., centre of a thriving agricultural district.

From business men and agriculturists of the district comes a plan to aid the people of the northern sections of China, where 5,000,000 persons have perished from hunger and privation.

The thousands of farmers of the western prairies are urged, in a resolution adopted at a meeting of Damsen folk, to donate one bushel or more of wheat each, and the railway companies of the Dominion are requested to arrange free transportation of this grain to the Orient.

The decision was made on the third ballot, and Mr. McDonald will ascend to the post previously held by Captain M. T. Shaw, K.C.

The race for leadership was close between Mr. McDonald and Mr. W. R. Howson of Edmonton, and H. Montgomery, of Wetaskiwin, who were the other candidates.

The Perfect Kid

Knocks down little girls who match his hat.
Goes to school willingly.
Shakes hands if he likes your looks.

Laces his own shoes.
Hangs up his clothes without orders.
Says "please" and "thank you."
Accepts punishment without resentment.
Blows his own nose.
Pretends he is a fire engine or a bear.

Gus: "If you had five dollars in your pocket, what would you think?"
Joe: "I'd think I had somebody else's pants on."

An exchange remarks: We would like to bet that none of the prominent bucket-shop operators will ever see the inside of a prison cell, unless their natural inclinations cause them to turn stick-up men or bootleggers. The kept press refers to them as martyrs and are hanging out haloes around their "maps."

Men have been known to run their businesses without advertising, but they have never been known to make any money. Advertising is the life blood of any business. It brings people in, and while they may not be interested in the specific articles advertised, they almost invariably find something they want. Getting the people to come to the place of business is the big idea in advertising. People go where they are invited.
